A WORD FOR THE YOUTH

To the grandmas and grandpas and even the mothers and fathers who sorrowfully utter, "The young generation is going to the dogs," we give a new note which should considerably alter their own song about the younger set.

A recent survey made in representative sections throughout the country reveals that the American girl still helps her mother and that brother does too. The survey was conducted in 715 communities in various parts of the country.

The report showed that, between the ages of 12 to 19 years old, are industrious and resourceful. Most of them are willing workers and 70 per cent do household chores regularly. About 65 per cent earn extra spending money.

And baby sitting, about 63 per cent of the girls do that, for it has become big business with the teenagers.

A look at the local scene, especially during the summer when the young set is free from school duties, shows that this community corresponds with those surveyed.

Cutting grass and caring for lawns here is a regular business for many of the boys and in some cases they have banded together into a cooperative enterprise which enables them to expand their operations. Several of the others are spending their summer working on ranches.

The report showed that twice as many of the girls think their brothers do their share of the work in the home as those who protest lack of cooperation. Approximately 58 per cent of the girls had practical suggestions for making work easier and quicker.

The overall impression from this candid picture of home life is that there is a great deal of cooperation and camaraderie within American families. The majority of the young set seems to be energetic, ambitious and equipped with good ideas. It is as though the future of the country and community will be in very good hands.

If these facts had been so clearly cut out before a lot of despondent head shaking and unnecessary worry concerning the fate of the younger generation would have been omitted, for they're doing all right.

ATOMIC ENERGY EXHIBIT TO BE ON DISPLAY
An atomic energy exhibit originally designed by the U. S. Navy for instruction of its own personnel will be on public display in Miami Beach, Fla., August 21-25.

The display will be a feature of the annual convention of the National Association of Sanitationists in Miami Beach, says Fred Safay of Jacksonville, National president.

Safay, a member of the Florida State Board of Health Field Technical Staff, said the display would be located in the Floridian Hotel, convention headquarters.

"Under present Civil Defense planning," Safay added, "sanitationists will play a prominent part in safeguarding the nation against the perils of modern warfare. We feel that the display will be of particular significance to the nation's sanitationists and of general interest to the public."

"I have been informed by Capt. C. W. Oxley, commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Air Station at Pensacola, where the exhibit is located at present, that the display was designed and constructed with the final objective being that of educating as many people as possible about all phases of atomic energy in the shortest period of time."

The exhibit contains visual aids in the form of posters, charts, photographs and moving pictures, along with a comprehensive reading library. It not only portrays warlike uses of atomic energy, but shows how such power may be used for peacetime uses to help people.

4-H CLUB SUPPLIES EXEMPTED FROM OPS
Official 4-H club supplies and official 4-H club supplies have been exempted from price controls, Sam E. Davis, district director of the Office of Price Stabilization in Miami, announced.

The exemption also applies to waste foods sold by the Salvation Army.

These articles were added to the list of merchandise sold by non-profit organizations or carrying their brands or insignia which have been exempted from price controls because of sales and because selling prices are strictly controlled by the organizations themselves.

These articles have been added by the Office of Price Stabilization into a classification which exempts them from the controls, current cost increases of sugar cane sugar rather than March increases only through March.

The Birds Got "Netted"

I had dinner with Tik Bradley the other day, and over a frosty bottle of beer I found out about his job with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

"Now just exactly what do you do?" I asked him. "Shoot birds that I cannot help but really enjoy."

Seems they actually do so. I remember to shoot birds on the ground. The birds start to take flight at the last moment, but he is sitting on the ground, so he can't get away. They're banded around the leg so more can be

Parents Liable For Their Children Under 16 Driving

Parents who allow their fourteen to sixteen year old children to drive motor vehicles without a restricted driver's permit face arrest for violating traffic rules and regulations.

Florida Highway Patrol Director H. N. Kirkman issued this warning today as he announced that numerous reports had been received that parents are allowing their youngsters to drive without a restricted license.

"If this were not a dangerous habit," Kirkman declared, Florida would not have had a law against it."

Under a restricted license, drivers are not allowed to drive
except in daylight hours only.
Those between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years of age must be accompanied by a licensed driver in the front seat.

Kirkman also warned against ereasures of restrictions in the law. The Florida Highway Patrol is the only agency authorized to lift restrictions after driver permits," Kirkman added.

The drawing also indicates the annual number of days when a temperature of 90 degrees or more are recorded in various parts of the country.

You might be inclined to doubt the figures for they do seem incredible, but nevertheless they are correct and official. Here they are:

Palm Beach countynians who plan to mail packages to persons abroad would do well to stop, look and listen before doing so.

If shipment of the package is prohibited without a validated export license, such as a license must be presented to the post office clerk with the package at the time of mailing.

If shipment without a license is permitted, the words "Gift—Export License Not Required" must be placed on the address side of the wrapper and the word "G. E." on the customs declaration.

SNOOK PLENTIFUL IN NORTH NEW RIVER CANAL

The South Bay residents, when the beef budget runs low, have found an excellent source of a substitute at their door steps so to speak.

The snook have been plentiful in the North New River Canal and many a barefoot boy and head of the household have taken home the makings of a good fish and hash supper after a fishing expedition at the locks and spillway in South Bay.

Bobby Dillow, age 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dillow, went fishing Monday morning with a 25 pound test line and in 15 minutes had 27 1-2 pounds of snook in a tub of water behind his house ready for the deep freezer.

He reeled in a 16 1-2 pound snook 34 inches long and a 10 3-4 pounder almost before you could say "Jack Robinson". The next afternoon he tried his luck again and brought in another 10 pound snook.

Other boys and men in the vicinity, while they may not have had his run of luck, are bringing in some very fine fish.

Stetson's Co-operative Plan Confined To Business

The new co-operative plan of education at Stetson University, whereby the students may earn enough to pay for a regular four-year course in five and a half years, will be limited the first year to the School of Business.

Stetson offers a bachelor of science degree in business administration and has a wide variety of courses open to students interested in this field.

"As one of the benefits of the co-operative plan is to provide practical experience, we feel that there is a better opportunity just now in the field of business," E. B. Crim, director of the program, said. "Later we will expand into other fields."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish thus to express our appreciation to members of the Baptist Church, Lions Club, American Legion and many other friends for their kindness and personal efforts in the recent fire.

Safety tips to save week-end drivers

Bring 'em back alive. Don't let your week-end trip be the death of you or your family. Drive extra carefully... watch out for inexperienced drivers...

use proper hand signals. Above all, stay on your guard every minute. Remember—there are many other week-ends on the calendar. Don't let this be your last.

Better late than never. Start your trip early enough. More cars will be on the road so make proper allowances for traffic delays and tie-ups. Take your time and death won't wait for your week-end.

Safety checks check accidents. Before you go away for the week-end, make sure that your car is in safe condition. Safety-check lights, tires, and especially brakes. The few dollars you save by skipping on safety may cost you your life.
